THE GOLDSMITH OF NUREMBURG.

On a beautiful day in October, 1498, a large number of persons under the influence of idleness, curiosity, or some better motive, had assembled opposite the Hotel de Ville of Nuremburg, attracted apparently by a placard affixed to one of its pillars, which bore the following announcement:

"Joseph Durer, Goldsmith of this city, acquaints his fellow-citizens that he will this afternoon, at his shop on the Place de l'Horloge, sell by auction all the works of Art, in gold and silver, that he possesses, and which are too numerous to be detailed—the sale will commence at four o'clock precisely,"

"What!" exclaimed one of the bystanders, who had just arrived, and who from the style and magnificence of his attire, was apparently a person of some distinction; "what! the rich goldsmith Durer selling off all his celebrated works of Art! what can have reduced him to such an extremity?"

"You are evidently a stranger, sir, replied a citizen to whom the question had been addressed, "or you would have known that Joseph Durer has made the greatest sacrifices to sustain his son-in-law, who was a short time since considered one of the principal merchants of Lubeck, but who has lately fled, leaving behind him debts to a considerable amount. It is to meet this disaster, to save the honor of his grand-children, and to preserve their names pure and unblemished, that this worthy man is now about to part with those beautiful works that were the pride and delight of his old age, of those masterpieces the possession of which has, so to say, identified itself with his very existence—such noble and disinterested conduct has called forth a general feeling of respect and sympathy from his fellow citizens, and has done much to remove a prejudice which existed against him, in consequence of an event which occurred some years ago.

"May I, without being deemed indiscreet, ask to what you allude?" said the stranger.

"You must know, Seigneur, that Joseph Durer had three sons and a daughter; the daughter he gave in marriage, with a large fortune, to the Lubeck merchant of whom I just spoke; his two elder sons he, by the sacrifice of enormous sums of money, succeeded in procuring appointments for at the Courts of Bavaria and Weimar, where their progress was so rapid that they soon learnt to despise their plebian father, and contrived to exchange his humble name for titles of nobility."

"And the youngest son—what became of him?"

"Albert, poor fellow!" replied the citizen, "Albert wished to become a painter, his father, however, refused to gratify his desire, wishing that he should follow his own calling of Goldsmith and threatened that if he did not he should be turned into the streets—in fact, behaved so unkindly to the poor boy, that one day he fled from home and has never again been heard of—many years have since passed, but so general a favorite was poor Albert, that even now his loss is remembered, and reproaches are still uttered against his father for the ill-treatment that caused the departure and perhaps the death of his youngest boy. Poor Albert!"

At this moment the clock struck four, the Goldsmith's ware rooms were thrown open, and the crowd rushed in to examine and to admire the costly articles that were submitted to their curious inspection.

The sale began—massive dishes, ewers and flagons of silver and gold were first off red—then came the more precious wares, the master-pieces of the craft—chalices exquisively carved, Gothic temples enriched with tracery of marvellous delicacy and fineness, jewelled shrines with scriptural subjects in relieve of wondrous beauty, figures from the antique of admirable perfection.

So long as the more common-place though costly things only were offered for sale, the Goldsmith sat quietly and calmly at the back of his shop, but when he heard the master-pieces of his skill named, and their worth and excellence extolled in the hackneyed terms of praise usual on such occasions, he could no longer maintain his attitude of resignation, but hastily rising, as if under the influence of some invisible power, he hovered round the various articles that were offered, with the anxiety of a parent round the cradle of his offspring.

The crier now announced for sale six statues in gold and silver, from the antique.

"A thousand ducats," said a voice.

"A thousand and fifty," said another.

"Eleven hundred," exclaimed he first, there was no higher bidding and the statues were sold.

The old Goldsmith breathed heavily, his features were white as his venerable locks, and a convulsive movement agitated every nerve.—He nevertheless persisted in remaining near the official whose duty it was to register the purchases made. When all was sold, the poor old man looked around him with a feeling of terror—the fatal moment approached when the purchasers were to bear away all those rich productions of his art which had so long surrounded him, those household gods which were to him part and parcel of his own life.

"Let the purchasers of the last twenty three lots come forward," called out the official register.

"They were all bought by one person," exclaimed a voice in reply.

Let him come forward, then, and state his name"

At these words, a young cavalier of some six or seven and twenty years of age, and whose, handsome features bore the stamp of intellectuality and mildness, stepped forward. He was richly dressed, and beneath an embroidered mantle, which was artistically and gracefully thrown over him, might be seen a massive chain of gold, that hung round his neck, and from which was suspended a miniature portrait, set in diamonds, of the Emperor Maximilian. His hat was looped up in front, and his flowing curls, redolent with perfume, fell upon a collar of rich lace.

"Here is the amount of my purchases," said in a tremulous voice the young stranger, "be pleased to verify its correctness."

The sum was found exact, and the officer then requested the name of the buyer in order that it might be inscribed on the register.

Meanwhile the old Goldsmith, more and downcast, awaited with the anxiety of despair, the removal of the treasure no longer his.

"Write," said the young stranger in faltering accents, "write Albert Durer."

At this name the old man sprang up, with all the energy of boyhood, and in an instant was locked in the embrace of his son.

"Albert!" he exclaimed, "my poor Albert! is it indeed you that I see, you in I hold in my heart! My poor boy! and you have not then forgotten your cold father—and you have forgiven him?"

"Forgiven you, my dear father," replied the youth, kneeling, "it is I who have to solicit forgiveness for my disobedience to your wishes and commands."

"All is forgotten, all is pardoned, my dear Albert—at such a moment can I think of aught else than your return, and of the happiness restored to me?"

"And that happiness will be increased, sir," said a stranger who approached, and whose dress bespoke him to be a man of high rank, "when you learn that your son and my friend Albert is now one of the most renowned artists of Germany—that he is not only a painter of the highest order, but one of the most skillful engravers, an architect and engineer of the greatest eminence—that he is chief painter to the Emperor Maximilian—that the Republic of Venice is anxious to engage his services, and that the King of France has entreated him to proceed to Paris to undertake the embellishment of that capital— what say you to this, worthy sir?"

"Say!" exclaimed the old goldsmith, again embracing his son, "that great talents are rareley unaccompanied by a noble heart, and that Albert is proof that the man of genius and the man of worth may and should be, one and the same."

MARIPOSA:

FRIDAY MORNING, DEC. 1, 1854.

☞ MR. JOHN E. METSON, Mail Carrier between this place and Sonora, is hereby authorised to receive any advertisements, job work, subscriptions, or moneys intended for the Mariposa Chronicle.

☞ DAVID W. BUCK, No. 142 Clay Street, is our authorized Agent in San Francisco.

MINING.—Mining "items" are becoming scarce in consequence of the continued dry weather. Many of our miners have established themselves in winter quarters and are patiently waiting for the floods to come. On Sherlocks and the Mariposa where the supply of water continues sufficient, most claims are paying well.

New and rich diggings were recentiy discovered in a hill between Princeton and Cunningham's ranch, which have caused considerable excitement. The depth of the ledge had not been ascertained when we are there, but all from the surface down was considered good "pay dirt." One hole at the depth of three feet prospected $7 to a pan. There is no water near enough for washing purposes, but many claims have been taken, parties considering them rich enough to warrant the risk of a dry winter.

We saw a few days ago, several ounces of smooth heavy gold taken from a claim on Drunken Gulch (emptying into Sherlocks) by a company who have recently been prospecting there for a wet claim. From the specimens shown us we anticipate some extraordinary results as soon as the ban of "no water" is removed.

On some portions of the Agua Frio, many companies are engaged in throwing up dirt, certain of a rich reward when washing commences.

During five days of last week, a company of three working a claim on the Mariposa about a mile above town, took out $150. The preceding weeks work in the same claim realized $120.

JEWS IN CHINA.—The Sacramento Union contains the report of a lecture lately delivered in that place by the Rev. Mr Shuck in the course of which he stated the following, in relation to a settlement of Jews in the interior of China, of the origen of which, nothing was known—"Their traditions reach to Persia, but one thing is certain, the colony is wholly composed of native Chinese Jews. When the speaker was in Shanghæ, two trusty persons were dispatched by the Christians, their expenses being defrayed, &c., to the place where this colony was said to exist, in order to get definite information concerning them. The messengers were told explicity that they would not be believed without they brought some of their documents as vouchers. In the course of six weeks they returned with drawings of their synagogue, seven rolls of the five books of Moses, in Hebrew characters, and four books of the ritual, all in an excellent state of preservation. They had in their synagogue also, the pentateuch on parchment, which when compared, was found to exactly correspond with the genuine books in the Bible. The discoveries showed that this people worshipped the true God. They however, made no converts, and the oldest Jewish resident failed to remember one having been brought into the colony from those without. The colony was sustained by the natural increase among themselves."

UNGALLANT RECORDER.—We learn from the San Francisco News that Mrs. Woods appeared before the recorder of San Francisco, on Saturday morning to receive sentence for chastising one A. C. James, with a riding whip. His Honor prefaced his judgment by a few appropriate remarks upon the impropriety of such a course, as the accused had adopted, to redress her wrongs. "The law," said he "does not permit a man to resent injuries by brute force, neither does it give such a priviledge to a lady. Your conduct is such as ladies do not often practice, and is not only disgraceful to yourself, but wholly inexcusable. The Court imposed a penalty of $50 fine or 5 days imprisonment."

THE VACANT JUDGESHIP, occasioned by the death of Hon. Alex. Wells, has been filled by the appointment of Chas. M Bryan, of Marysville. Mr. Bryan, it will be remembered, was a member of the last Legislature, and in the Senate took a very active part Mr. B. removed to this State from Ohio.

SETTLED.—The Comunon Comcil of San Francisco, has determined that Mr Hyde, the gentleman who obtained the certificate from the 1st ward is entitled to his seat, which was contested on the ground that he was not a citizen of the United States.

IMPORTANT DECISION IN PRACTICE.—Judge Howell, in the 11th District Court, held in El Dorado county, decided in the case of Emile Blanc et al vs. D. E. Buell, Sheriff, &c., "that a sale of personal property without immediate delivery under our Statute is fraudulent per se against creditors, &c., and that a delivery before the levy of an execution at the suit of a creditor where delivery was not made immediately upon sale, will not purge the legal fraud."

HORSE THIEVES.—The San Jose Tribune complains that these pests are altogether too abundant in the vicinity of that place.

LOLA MONTEZ IN A ROW.—Grass Valley, says the Sacramento Union, was thrown into a state of ludicrous excitement on Thursday last, by the appearance of Madame Lola Montez rushing from her residence through Mill street towards Main street, with a lady's delicate riding whip in one hand and a copy of the "Telegraph" in the other, "her eyes in fine frenzy rolling," vowing vengeance on that scoundrel of an Editor, &c. She met him at the Golden Gate Saloon, the crowd who were on the qui vive following in her footsteps. Lola struck at the Editor with her whip, but he caught and wrested it from her before she could hit him a blow. She then applied woman's best weapon—her tongue. Meanwhile her antagonist contented himself with keeping most insultingly cool. Finding all her endeavors powerless, the "divine Lola" appealed to the miners, but the only response rendered was a shout of laughter. Mr. Shipley, the Editor, then triumphantly retired, having by his calmness, completely worn out his fair enemy.

The immediate cause of the fracas was the appearance of sundry articles, copied from the New York Tribune, regarding the "Lola Montez-like insolence and effrontery of the Queen of Spain." The entire scene was decidedly rich.

The appeals of the Countess to the "honest miners" were powerless, and so she invited all hands in to take a drink, but the response was a groan, and none stepped forward to show themselves her champion. The whole affair, so far as the lovely Lola was concerned, was a complete farce.

"How are the mighty fallen; none so poor to do her reverence."

EUGENE CITY MINES.—The Oregon Statesman has the following about the new mines, discovered at Eugene City, and the singular nature of the metal.

Considerable excitement still exists with regard to the Eugene City mines, and a number of men are still at work there. It is yet undetermined whether or not it is gold. A reliable gentleman from there who was in our office a day or two since, states that the ore found strongly resembles gold, and is believed by some old miners to be such. He says there are two kinds of metal found, both having the appearance of genuineness. The first found will not stand the test of nitric acid; but that since found, and found below the other kind, does not suffer from the application of nitric acid, and is only made brighter by it. It is also malleable. Our informant believes that to be gold, and the other kind not to be; both are as heavy as gold. All agree that the mines are rich with whatever the metal is. From three to four ounces per day to the man can be easily obtained. Of course, different opinions exist respecting these mines.

ABOLISHING THE LUNCH.—The proprietors of drinking saloons in San Francisco are about to abolish the free lunch system, and have appointed a committee to consider and report on the matter. The Times & Transcript says the conclusions of the committee will be awaited with the most painful anxiety by at least 5000 persons whose daily bread depends upon the termination of the important movement. Should they determine to cut off the lunch tables, and keep the meats in their larders, the groans of the victims will smite more heavily the heart of the philanthropist than the lamentations of Jeremiah smote the heart of Israel.

The name of the absconding Deputy Sheriff of Monterey, is said to be John Q. Smith, not J. L. Smith as first published.

Soon after Mr. Smiths disappearance, the County Judge, Josiah Merritt, followed in his footsteps. Cause, said to be—more wives than the law allows.

LATE ACCOUNTS from the Mexican frontier announce the capture of Monterey by the revolutionists. Gen. Ampudia was taken and shot on the spot. The principal battle took place at Walnut Springs, near Monterey. Gen. Cruz was shut up in Camargo which place was expected soon to yield. Gen. Wool was at Matamoras, and the revolutionists had possession of all the country to the Sierra Madre.

EXECUTED.—Henry H. Munroe, sentenced to be hung for the murder of James M. Gordon, was executed at Martinez on Friday last. He confessed that he had committed the act, but said it was the only white man he had ever killed, although he had shot Spaniards and Indians, merely to see them jump and die.

ELEVATIONS.—Dr. John B. Trask furnishes the Shasta Courier with the altitudes of the following places: Mt. Washington Mine Works, 2,028 feet; Mt. Washington Mine, 3,068; Red Bluffs 1,184; French Gulch, 1,075; Tower's Bridge, 1,112; Mountain House 1,223; Mc Laughlin's House, 3,154; Lewis' Bridge, 1,668 Browns' Mountain. 3,361; Weaverville, 2,116; Trinity Mountain, 3,980; Palmer's Ferry, Trinity, River, 2,208.

EL DORADO AGAINST THE WORLD!—Married, at the Temperance House in Mud Springs, November 19th, by Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Santa Clara, Judge E. Ballenger, of Buckeye Flat, formerly of Cass County Mich., to Mrs. Zerelda D. Deering, of Diamond Springs, formerly of Missouri

The above parties are said to have had but an hour's acquaintance, and in that brief time they agreed to be one. The united weight of the happy couple is five hundred pounds avoirdupois, and their collective ages ninety years.—Union.

Major Weightman has been tried for killing F. X. Aubry, at Santa Fe, and acquitted.

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE MARIPOSA CHRONICLE.]

Stockton Nov. 27th 1854.

Messrs Editors :

We have but this moment arrived in this place, and I make it my first duty to lay before you, while fresh in memory, some of the items incidental to a short excursion in Mariposa County in the region of Maxwell's Creek.

So far as we, I may as well here say that Mr. Pool was my companion throughout this tour, and if I may be permitted so to speak, he is "one of em," but whether his first name is Whirl or Sebasto, I have not as yet ascertained; it may be Liver for aught I know,—but to proceed—as far as we were able to discover, the miners are doing but little in that section; they are for the most part "laying up" anxiously awaiting the rains, yet business seems rather brisk than otherwise in Coulterville and other camps in that vicinity.

On the trail leading from Coulterville to Split Rock, we met many persons northward bound, evidently miners. Among the number a pure specimen of the "live Yankee," who without the least ceremony accosted us somewhat in the following style.

"I say you fellers, ef yeour bound deown to Maryposy to go a mining, I tell yer neow, you better turn back, its no kinder use, cos deown there they aint duin tall, an haint nothin to du it with nuther, that's more on't."

But the Mariposa mines are generally considered rich are they not ?" asked Pool.

"Great Ceasar Rodney," "I guess they be; the hul kounty is farely runnin over with the tarnal pesky stuff, sum of the alfiredest sort of diggin's, but not a drop of water, not a ditch or canal in the hul kounty, so here's what's individily beound up Sonora an Klumby way, where there's plenty of water and tu spare, the hul endurin yere reound."

Dew tel, what very "astonishing news" says Pool as Yank resumed his journey and we moved on.

We arrived at Split Rock, without holding further converse with the numbers we met at almost every turn, save a passing word with one. At the top of the mountain that overlooks Split Rock, and forms a part of the mighty gorge, through which the Merced river runs its wild terific course, we observed a man, standing in an attitude of thought; his arms were folded across his manly chest, his head bowed. Approaching nearer we observed that his eyes were sunken, and his whole mien betokened deep, confirmed melancholy—When very near him we paused, not wishing to disturb the holy sanctity of his apparently profound meditations, But all things have an end, as had the reverie of our "knight of the sorrowful figure." He at length slowly raised his drooping head, and intently fixing his eyes in the direction of Mariposa, pointed to the same quarter with his index finger, and gave vent to his pent up feelings in the following sublime strain of Hibernian eloquence

"Be the powers of Moll Kelly and the toe nail of St. Patrick, ye are jist going to the very divel for the want of wather. I'm lavin ye, but by the nose of Wellington, I'll be afther coming back to ye my darlints, whin there is wather enough in ye to wash your own face, or I'm not Pathrick McDivilty son of owld McDivilty.

But Pool could stand no more, and yelled at the top of his voice, "Dry up" you blubbering booby is this all your woe that you are putting on so many "airs" about?

"Go to blazes," you never know'd the falings of an honest miner, who is jist afther laving the best claim in the counthry all because he has niver a bit of a tom stream," roared Pat in tones of of thunder and rushing past us soon disappeared in the windings of the trail we had just passed over.

After safely passing through all the break-neck "chances" that always bear one company in the mountains, we reached Split Rock, where we met Col. D, a gentleman favorably known throughout Mariposa county. I took some pains to ascertain his opinions upon the all engrossing topic in that section. The substance of them was as follows:

It is no longer a matter of choice with the people of Mariposa County, whether they will have water diffused throughout their county by artificial means or not Their prospects and interests as a mining community most imperatively demand it, and the time is near at hand when they will be offered an opportunity of manifesting 'how much' they wish the prosperity of the county, by showing to what extent they are willing to lend their aid and encouragement, to the endeavors of Messrs Carothers & Co. who have about completed an experimental survey, and so far, report most favorably.

Private enterprise will never consumat this work unless aided and supported by those whose interests are a fixed fact with that of the county. To complete it is a duty they owe not only to the State but to themselves.

I can add but one more item of evidence as to the scarcity of water in Mariposa County, and that is, while in the mountains I do not recollect to have seen a single man drink anything but the "ardent" of course not from a matter of choice—certainly not—but for the ostensible reason, that all the water the country affords is required for mining purposes.

From Split Rock we turned our faces Stocktonward, where we arrived having met with no incidents worthy of notice, except that we barely escaped being wet through; as it was, about "forty drops" fell semi-frequently. Yours &c. Sr. Jo.

CONTINUED EXCITEMENT.

Lynching of Jack Roarke.

After the attempt of last Thursday morning upon the jail, the intense excitement which had prevailed since the murder of Horing, subsided somewhat, although all sorts of rumors were current that parties were organizing, in considerable numbers, with the object of getting possession of Roarke at all hazards. On Sunday afternoon, a meeting was held in front of the bowling alley to consider the subject, and at about three o'clock a rush was made for the jail. Possession was taken of the upper story by the mob, who commenced cutting through the floor to get at the prisoner beneath, and in about two hours succeeded in cutting two holes, one of about three feet square and the other some smaller, through the heavy timbers forming the floor of the upper story. In the meantime, Capt Boling who had been absent, returned and entered the jail with several assistants and warned the crowd above that he would fire upon any person who should descend through the floor. The crowd above then attempted to smoke out the Sheriff and declared they would burn down the jail unless the prisoner was given up. A canister of powder was thrown down through the hole in the floor and its explosion compelled the Sheriff and his party to withdraw to the outside

Most of the citizens of the town had been summoned to guard the jail, but a general unwillingness was manifested to comply with the summons. During all these proceedings a considerable crowd of persons remained within a short distance of the jail, watching the course of events, without showing any disposition to interfere.

As a last resort the citizens were informed that if they wished to preserve the town from destruction they must protect the jail, as it would in all probability be fired by the mob and thus communicate to the town. A large portion of the property holders and others immediately repaired to the jail and recommended to Capt. Boling the propriety of giving up Roarke to the party who demanded him as they would not permit their property to be sacrificed for a murderer They further informed him that they considered that he had performed his whole duty that he was overpowered, and that further resistance perhaps might lead to the loss of valuable lives. Capt. Boling refused to accede to thetr request and was almost dragged away from the jail door by some of his friends and the mob took possession.

The prisoners irons were cut, a rope put around his neck and he was led to the scaffold, a distance of about a quarter of a mile. He appeared firm and collected, and on his arrival at the place of execution gave some instructions of a private nature to a gentleman whom he had sent for. He addressed a few words in a low but firm voice to the bystanders—numbering probably over one thousand, declaring his innocence of the robbery imputed to him and that Horing was the only person he had ever killed. He thanked Capt. Boling for his efforts to save him from the mob and wished to be allowed a fair trial according to law. He also denied ever having knowingly wronged any person, said that he had played cards and bitterly regretted the day he first took a card in his hand.

After he was blindfolded, he exclaimed My God! My God! the drop fell, and he expired without a struggle. Thus ended, the last act in the life of a man who, if the testimony of respectable persons can be believed, was familiar with crime for years.

Whenever the moral feelings of a whole community are shocked by the perpetration of enormous outrages, some extraordinary means for preventing their repetition will be adopted; and however much we may regret the necessity for lawless acts of this kind, and deplore the evils which all admit invariably result from their commission, we cannot but believe that in this instance a just punishment was inflicted, and hope that it may act as a warning for the future.

INDIAN TROUBLES AGAIN.—We are informed that the Indians over in the Cow Creek Country have again assumed a hostile attitude towards the whites. Within the past four or five days they have stolen from the ranches about one hundred head of stock, among them some very fine horses and mules. Mr. Long, of this place is a loser to the amount of some ten or fifteen of his most valuable mules.

We also hear that on Thursday last the Indians in large numbers, visited Churn Town, on the east side of the Sacramento river, and run the whites away from the place. The people of Churn Town had, on the day previous, pursued and killed several of the savages while making their way to the mountains with a lot of stolen property.—Shasta Courier.

LOS ANGELES,—The Southern Californian, reviewing the events of one week says; The past week has been comparatively quiet. Four persons have been killed, it is true, but it has been a poor week for killing A head or two has been split open and an occasional case of cutting has occurred, but these are minor matters, and create but little feeling.

The new wagon road from Los Angeles to the Tejon is nearly completed.

The City Council are about to suppress public gambling houses.

The Star urges the adoption of immediate measures for the construction of a railroad from the Colorado to their city.

JOHN YORK.—This individual who murdered Mr. Mc Mickle some time since in San Francisco and escaped, is in Honolulu, walking the streets as "big as life."

THE STATE VOTE.—The following synopsis of the vote of this State, is from the S. F. Herald, and contains many interesting facts;

The following returns of the recent election in this State, show a total vote of 84,604. Contrary to the general understanding, since the election, this is the largest vote ever cast in California. In the Gubernatorial election of 1853, the total vote was 77,507; for President, in 1852, 76,345; for Governor, in 1851, 45,919. Taking the average vote for Congressmen as the test, El Dorado county polled the largest number of votes this year, 10,511; San Francisco the next, 10,411. The vote of the other more important counties ranks as follows: Placer, 5641; Nevada, 4986; Sacramento, 4825; Sierra, 4393; Tuolumne, 4302; Yuba, 4257; Calaveras, 4185; total in these nine counties, 53,331. The first seven mentioned, polled 44,889 votes—more than the aggregate vote of the remaining 32 counties in the State. Among the smallest votes cast were San Luis Obispo, 110; San Diego, 158; Santa Barbara, 173; Tulare, 195; Compared with the election of 1853, the vote has fallen off in Sacramento, 1808; in San Francisco, 727; in San Joaquin, 610; in Tuolumne and Stanislaus, 539; in Sama Clara, 118; in Santa Barbara, 75; in San Luis Obispo, 35; and in Solano, 24; In all the other counties, the vote has increased this year. This increase has been very large in some of the counties—in Placer, 1780; El Dorado, 1739; Calaveras and Amador, 1534; Sierra, 954; Alameda, 851; Sonoma, 774; Siskiyou, 673; Trinity 478; Nevada 460; Los Angeles, 364; Contra Costa, 302; Klamath, 253; Butte and Plumas, 210; Mariposa, 180; Humboldt 105; Monterey, 102; the rest under 100 each.

Considered with a reference to a geographical line, the northern counties, including all north of the Bay, the San Joaquin and Mokelumne rivers, polled 50,756 votes; the southern counties, 32,664 votes; Classing the agricultural counties of Yolo, Sonoma and Mendocino, Solano, Marin and Napa, with the southern counties, their total vote would be 37,753; that of the northern counties, 46 667 The eight counties south of San Francisco and west of the Coast Range, polled only 4888 votes combined. The eight counties in the valley of the San Joaquin, including Tulare, polled 17,367 votes; the ten counties north of the Bay and west of the Sacramento River, including Shasta, the most populous portion of which lies to the west of the river, polled 10,838 votes; the ten counties chiefly mining, north of the Bay and Mokelumne River, and east of the Sacramento, polled 40,618 votes—nearly half the total vote of the State. In most of these counties an unsually large vote was drawn out by the local excitement consequent upon the running of three or four tickets—an incentive which did not exist in the southern counties. Although by no means an unerring list, this analysis of the votes will give some idea of the distribution of population in our State.

SALT LAKE. The Union says that a few days before Mr Greathous (its informant) left Salt Lake, a party of Snake Indians, numbering adout one hundred and fifty, passed through the City and attacked a village of the Utah's in the vecinity killing some three or four and wounding as many others, after a short one-sided fight. The alleged cause of the attack was the stealing of a horse by the Utahs. On their return, the Snakes encamped on one of the public squares of the City, and held a pow-wow at night in honor of the occasion. Business was active and prices of all kinds of goods had lowered by the arrival of a great many trains from the Western states

A foundry had been established in Salt Lake City, at which are manufactured all kinds of brass, iron and copper castings.

PETROPAULASKI.—The English and French fleets recently lying in the harbor fo San Francisco, it is reported, have been ordered to make another attack upon Petropaulaski. They doubtless feel somewhat humiliated at their former inglorious retreat from that place and will reduce it this time if able.

A GOOD IDEA.—Z. P. Davis, a married man, husband of Mrs. Z. P. Davis, gives notice in the Nevada papers that hereafter he will transact the business of making and repairing guns, &c., in his own name, as per act of July 4th, 1776.

THE IDLE AND INDUSTRIOUS MINER.—A neat pamphlet with the above title has just been issued by Messrs. Anthony & Co., of the Sacramento Union. It is illustrated with a series of spirited engravings delineating the course of an industrious and an idle miner, accompanied with poetical explanations.

STOLEN HORSES.—We learn says the Argus, from a gentleman who arrived in town yesterday, from Calaveras, that forty head of fine horses were discovered a few days ago, near Dry Camp, secreted in the chapparal mountains in that vicinity. They are supposed to have been stolen by a band of Mexican horse thieves and robbers, whose quarters are at Dry Camp. It appears they are making a regular business of horse stealing, and driving them off to the lower country of Sonora.

A large party had started out from San Andres and San Antonio, to endavor, if possible, to arrest the thieves.

FEES.—In the list of accounts allowed by the Court of Sessions at Sacramento, here is an item of $2 550, paid to the County Auditor for making out a list of the State and County tax. The law requires this labor to be done, makes it the duty of the Auditor to do it, and then allows him forty cents a folio, or page, for the work The Auditor has charged for writing 6,375 folios, at forty cents a folio. That the work was done, and well done, we are assured from the character of the Auditor; he has charged only what the law allows him, but we submit that the law allows about three times what should be paid for the discharge of such duties. If the Auditor employed a clerk to do the work, we do not suppose he paid over one-third of $2,550—if so much even as that. A clear profit of $500, it seems to us, should be sufficient to compensate the Auditor for his official duties, after paying a clerk to do the job.—Sacramento Union.

See advertisement of Cunningham's Hotel and Ranch for sale, in another column.

SENATOR GWIN.—In addition to his faithful independent course upon all matters connected with the interests of California, Mr. Gwin has another cause for popularity among the people of the mountains, for they see that he is bitterly opposed by the politicians of San Francisco. In that gathering of corruption, speculation, and shameless bribery, there is no favor to be bestowed upon an honest man, and the statesman who dares hold up his arm in defence of the interests of the whole State, need expect no other reward than curses, from the scheming horde who have so long announced by word and action, that to San Francisco must be shown all that favor, which our honest Senator believes to belong to the entire State. Every effort, on the part of these men, to injure Dr. Gwin, will result in his favor. The people of the mountains hold the balance of power, and it will be given for the man who without dread of consequences, has always dared to proclaim himself their friend.

THE ADMINISTRATION.—The Washington Union gives the following reasons for the great outcry against the present administration:—

The administration has failed to commit itself to the peculating policy of its predecessor.

It has failed to give way to the assaults of the Abolitionists.

It has failed to permit them to violate the constitution of the United States.

It has failed to yield to the insolent demands of foreign governments.

It has failed to oppose the Nebraska Kanzas bill.

It has failed to follow the footsteps of its predecessor by failing to make several treaties vitally important to the peace, tranquility, and welfare of our country.

It has failed to commit itself to Native Americanism, Know Nothingism, and fanaticism generally.

THE INDIAN RESERVATION.—The Los Angeles Star reports the arrival of Col Henley, Col. Ransom and Major Harvey, from the Indian Reservation, at the Tejon. Major Harvey states that everything is conducted with the greatest order and discretion, and all departments progressing in the most satisfactory manner. The road over the San Fernando Hill is fast verging toward completion, and will soon be in a condition that any ordinary load can be transported into the Tulare Valley or to the Reservation.

Howard, College Ala, was burned to the ground on the 16th of October, and 22 boys were greatly injured by jumping off from the windows. Two of the number have died.

IMMIGRATION.—The San Diego Herald says that a man recently in from the Colorado had informed it that there were large parties of imigrants on the road—most of whom would go up the country by the way of Monte and San Gabriel. They had a large amount of stock, and were generally better fitted out than the emigration of any previous year.

COUNTERFEIT COIN.—We would advise our readers, says the Evening News, to be on their guard against counterfeit coin, intended to represent foreign gold pieces of the value of $4, which have obtained quite an extensive circulation in this city. This imposition is contrived by reducing Prussian quarters as they are called and then galvanizing them

FAVORS.—We tender our acknowledgements to Mr. Stelle for prompt delivery of California papers, forwarded by Messrs. Wells Fargo & Co.

Also to Mr. Gardner for favors during the past week.

MARIPOSA CHRONICLE.

DOESTICKS AT CHURCH IN NEW YORK.

Seventy hundred and one, Narrow street.

Having seen the operas with detestation, the theatres with approbation, George Christy with cachinnation, and No. 2 Dey street with affiliation: having visited Castle Garden, the Model Artists and the American Museum, I resolved to complete and crown my knowledge by going to Church. I made known my heroic determination to my new found friends, and they instantly resolved to bear me company—Bull Dogge by way of variety and Damphool from force of habit—(Bull Dogge seldom goes to church, and Damphool always does.) Sunday morning came and the aforesaid individuals presented themselves—B. D. looked pugnacious and pugilistic, and Damphool perfectly marvelous—in fact, majestic as this latter-named personage had ever appeared—his coat tails were now so wonderfully short, his collar so enviably large, and so independently upright, and his hat so unusually and magnificently lofty—that he certainly looked a bigger Damphool than ever before.

Passing up Broadway through a crowd of people of all sorts, sizes, colors and complexions; countrymen running every third man they met; New Yorkers threading their way through apparently un-get-through-able crowds without ruffling their tempers or their shirt collars. Firemen in red shirts and their coats over their arms; newsboys with a very scanty allowance of shirt, and no coats at all; Dutch emigrants with dirty faces, nasty breeches, and long loppy looking pipes; Irish emigrants, with dirtier faces, nastier breeches, and short stubbier pipes; spruce looking darkies and wenches arrayed in rainbow-colored habiliments—we at last reached the door of the church. Everything looked so grandly gingerbready, that I hesitated about going in. Little boy in the corner (bare-footed with a letter in the post-office) told us to "go in," and called us "Lemons," Did not perceive the force of his pomological remark, but "went in" nevertheless. Man in a white cravat showed us to a pew; floor covered with carpet and seat covered with damask with little stools to kneel down upon—(Bull Dogge says so the faithful will not dirty their pantaloons.)

Pretty soon, music—organ—sometimes grand and solemn, but generally fast and lively enough for a contra dance. (B. D. said the player got a big salary to show off the organ and draw a big house.) He commenced to play, Old hundred.) (Damphool suggests Ancient Century.) At first, majestic as it should be but soon his left hand began to get unruly among the bass notes, then his right hand cut up a few monkey shines in the treble; left threw a large assortment of quavers, right led off with a grand flourish and a few dozen variations; left struggled manfully to keep up, but soon gave out, dead beat, and after that went back to first principles, and hammered away religiously at Old Hundred in spite of the antics of its fellow; right struck up a march, marched it to a quick step, quickened into a gallop; left still kept at Old Hundred; right put in all sorts of fantastic extras to entice the left from its sense of propriety; left still unmoved; right put in a few bars of a popular waltz; left waivers a little; right strikes up a favorite polka; left evidently yielding; right dashes into a jig; left now fairly deserts its colors and goes over to the enemy, and both commence an animated hornpipe, leaving poor Old Hundred to take care of itself. At length, with a crash, a squeak, a rush, a roar, a rumble and an expiring groan, the overture concluded and service began.

First, a prayer; then a response; prayer; response by the priest and people alternately, like the layers of bread and butter and ham and mustard in a sandwich; then a little sing, then a little preach then more petitions and more responses. Damphool read the entire service, minister's cues included, and sung all the hymns. I noticed that Dr. Bull Dogge gave all the responses with a great deal of energy and vigor. He said he always liked to come to this kind of church, because when they jawed religion at him, he could jaw back.

Kept as cool as I could, but could not help looking round now and then to see the show. Elderly lady on my right, very devout, gilt edged prayer book, gold-covered fan, feathers in her bonnet rings on her fingers, and for all I know, "bells on her toes." Antiquated gentleman in same slip, well preserved but somewhat wrinkled, smells of Wall street, gold spectacles, gold-headed cane, put three cents in the plate. Fashionable little girl on the left—two flounces on her pantalettes, and a diamond ring over her glove.

Young America looking boy, four years old, patent leather boots, standing collar, cane and cigar-case in his pocket Foppish young man, with adolescent moustache, pumps, legs a la spermaceti candles, shirt in front embroidered a la 2:50 race horse, cravat a la Julien, vest a la pumpkin pie, hair a la soft soap, coat tails a la boot-jack, which when parted discovered a view of the Crystal Palace by gas light, on the rear of his pantaloons, wristbands a la stove pipe, hat a la wild Irishman, cane to correspond; total effect a la Shanghai.

Artificial young lady, extreme of fashion; can't properly describe her; but here goes; whalebone, cotton, paint and whitewash, slippers a la Ellsler, feet a la Japanese, dress a la Paris, shawl a la eleven hundred dollars, parasol a la mushroon, ringlets a la corkscrew, arms a la broom stick, bonnet a la Bowery gal, (Bull Dogge says the boy without buttons on him brought it in, in a teaspoon fifteen minutes after she entered the house,) neck a la scrag of mutton, bosom a la barebones, complexion a la mother of pearl, (Damphool says she bought it at Phalon's) appearance generally humbug.

At length with another variette upon the organ, and all the concentrated praise and thanksgiving of the congregation sung by four people up stairs, the services concluded. I thought from the manner of this last performance, each member of the choir imagined the songs of praise would never go to heaven if he didn't give them a personal boost in the shape of an extra yell.

Left the church with a confused idea that the only way to attain eternal bliss, is to go to church every Sunday, and to give liberally to the foreign missionary cause.

Bull Dogge tried to convince me that one-half of the people present thought that Fifth Avenue runs straight into Heaven, and that their through tickets are insured, their front seats reserved, and that when they are obliged to leave this world they will find a coach and four and two servant in livery, ready to take them right through to the other side of Jordan.

Yours, reverentially,

Q. R. PHIL. DOESTICKS, P. B.

A WORD OF CAUTION—The Eye is by far too precious and delicate an organ to be trifled with or made the subject of random experiments; therefore it would be exceedingly unwise, and perhaps dangerous, to accept any of the "Never Failing Cures" that are tendered by the mistaken kindness of all around," for every one offers a specific for diseases of the eye.

Five Thousand Copies First Edition.
A BOOK TO BE READ BY EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD.

This day has been published the long expected work entitled
POCKET ÆSCULAPIUS,
OR, MEDICAL COMPANION, Being Observations on MANHOOD IN ITS PREMATURE DECLINE, EMBRACING CRITICAL AND PRACTICAL TREATISES ON
Venereal Diseases, Impotency and Sterility,
Explaining the Causes and Treatment of Gonorrhea Gleet, Stricture, and all Diseases of the Generative and Urinary Organs, both in the Male and Female; thereby rendering it an invaluable Vade Mecum for every one, to be consulted without exposure, and with assured confidence of success.

"THE PROPER STUDY OF MANKIND IS MAN."

BY J. C. YOUNG, M. D.,
Author of "Comparative Anatomy," etc., Graduate of the University of Pennsylvania; Honorary Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, etc., etc:

The above work is emphatically the book for the age. It is one of the most complete works of the kind that has ever been published, presenting as it does the minute analysis of every form of venereal disease incident to both sexes, and above all, entering into and describing particularly the awful work of that terrible disease so common among young men, known as masturbation. The knowledge to be derived by every one in having a copy of this work in their possession is beyond conception; as any person who has the slightest reason to believe that they are afflicted with a disease, of which they have been ignorant, can by referring to its pages, in a few minutes fully understand the nature of that disease, and be made aware of the effects attending it; and thus they may in season apply the proper remedies and avert its heretofore unseen progress, which was fast undermining their constitution, and would have resulted either in death, or what is as awful to contemplate, destroying forever the health and happiness of the unfortunate victim.

In the preparation of this work, the author has not only given a practical exposition of his own labors, but has freely consulted and compiled from the works of the most popular writers of the day, thus presenting a careful and well digested compendium of the most important facts and principles furnished by the ablest writers that have ever lived. This is sufficient, it is hoped, as a test of its accuracy and of its untold practical value and utility.

On the receipt of one dollar, this invaluable work will be sent to any part of the State.

All those who may desire one copy or more of this work will please direct their orders to DR. J. C YOUNG, corner Montgomery and California streets, over Wells, Fargo & Co's Express Office, San Francisco, accompanied with the money. All orders will be faithfully and promptly attended to.

Booksellers and Periodical Dealers supplied on liberal terms. Orders to be directed as in the above.

DR. HUNGERFORD.

We wish to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of this gentleman, whose extensive practice and great success is sufficient to induce all those afflicted to give him a call. The Doctor is not only a regularly educated Physician, but he has the principles of honesty and a heart that can feel for his fellow beings. He has undoubtedly more practice than any other Physician in San Francisco, and it is fast increasing. To those acquainted with the Doctor, we say nothing as to his skill and integrity, as they are well known; but to strangers we do say, call at the corner of Washington street and Washington place, and you will find that a friend in need is a friend indeed.

(From the "Southern Medical Journal.")
PROFESSOR HUNGERFORD.

Although opposed to the system of advertising, yet we deem it but just to this gentleman to admit that his system of treatment in Private Diseases is undoubtedly the most approved one now in use throughout the civilized world.

FROM DR HUNGERFORD'S
PRIVATE MEDICAL ROOMS,
Corner of Washington Street and Washington Place, opposite the Hall of Records and the Lafayette Restaurant San Francisco.

Where all diseases of a private character receive the treatment necessary to effect a speedy and effectual cure of those annoying and distressful complaints. The enviable reputation Dr. Hungerford has earned for himself by his extraordinary success in all diseases of a private nature, renders it but necessary to state his address; he therefore avoids the long advertisements of bombastic promises of the empirics of the day, so lavishly held out but seldom fulfilled. Medicines are sent to all parts of the country, with directions for their use.

NOCTURNAL EMISSIONS, Ulcers in the Throat, Syphilis, Gonorrhea, Strictures, Gleet, and those dreadful symptoms of the head, throat, nose and skin, under the Hungerford treatment, are healed in an incredible short time, without mercury. Young men who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which ruins both body and mind, call immediately on Dr. Hungerford, and you can depend on being restored to health, that greatest of God's blessings.

STONE GRAVEL, &c.—The efficacy of Dr. Hungerford Lithon Triptic has proved beyond a doubt to be the most certain cure in the above named most painful cases that the human frame is subject to. an25-3m

REMOVAL
Dr. J. C. Young,
HAS removed his office from 232 1-2 Dupont street to the corner of Montgomery and California streets, opposite the Banking House of Page, Bacon & Co., where he will be happy to consult with his former patrons, and treat scientifically and with discretion, all those who may require the services of a physician. The success of Dr. Young since his advent in this State, has been without a parallel, and he hopes by continued and untiring application to his profession, to remove from the public mind that look of confidence which has so unhappily existed in regard to the medical profession in the State of California.

P. S.—All letters enclosing $10 will receive immediate attention. Direct box 735, Post Office, San Francisco.

N. B.—All papers in the State will please insert as special notice the above, for one month, and send bill to J. C. Young, M. D. dec4-tf

DR. J. C. YOUNG,
OF SAN FRANCISCO.
READ AND REFLECT.

"If there is a hereafter,
(And that there is, conscience uninfluenced,
And suffered to speak out, tells every man,)
Then it is an awful thing to die,
More horrid yet to die by one's own hand,
Self-murder—name it not!
Shall Nature, swerving from her earliest dictate,
Self preservation, fall by its own act?
Forbid it, Heaven."

THE indulgence in secret practices is the most certain, though not always the most immediate and direct avenue to destruction. Physicians of all ages have been most unanimously of opinion that the loss of one ounce of the seminal secretions, by unnatural aid or emissions, weakens the system more than the abstraction of forty ounces of blood. One of the FIRST writers on medical jurisprudence states that three-fourths of the insane owe their malady to such abuse.

How important, then, it is—for every one having the least cause to suspect any trouble in that way, should attend to it immediately; even one single occurrence should be sufficient to cause doubt, and much more so if the person had ever indulged in the soul-killing habit. The treatment pursued by the justly celebrated Dr. J. C. Young, in cases of seminal weakness, impotency, sterility, nervous debility, and paralysis, (the last is the most dangerous, and when it once occurs, is incurable,) is surpassed by any physician in the country. It is the same as that followed by him for years, under the guidance of the world-renowned Record of Paris, and Acton of London. Dr. Young's office is corner of Montgomery and California streets, opposite Page, Bacon & Co., San Francisco, California, where he can be consulted upon that and all other private diseases, with the utmost confidence and secresy. Dr. Young will warrant a perfect and permanent cure, or make no charge.

N. B.—Letters enclosing $10 will receive prompt attention. The doctor's time being so much taken up that he cannot attend to letters unless paid for it.

P. S.—Apartments privately arranged.

A CARD.
FROM Dr. J. C. Young's Private Medical Office.—TO THE AFFLICTED.—In this age of progress, when science is developing itself in such a manner as to appear almost miraculous, everything in common place is looked upon as not worth notice. In view of this fact, DR. YOUNG, corner of Montgomery and California streets, San Francisco, California, has concluded to leave the beaten track hitherto pursued by most scientific physicians, (that of waiting for the public to find you out alone,) and publish to the world, as much as may be, his knowledge of the healing art, to let those who are in need of assistance know where they can find relief, without fear of being imposed upon.

In continuation of this object, Dr. Young would say that for the past ten years he has pursued the practice of medicine in one of the largest cities of the United States, with the highest success, and that his standing as a physician is without reproach, having at one time been lecturer at the University of Pennsylvania on venerial diseases, &c.

Upon all these considerations, Dr. Young has confidence in introducing himself to the public, knowing that they will sustain well earned merit.

The following are a few of the many testimonials, which have appeared in the public journals the last few years:

[From the Boston Medical Journal.]

Although we are opposed to the system of advertising, for good and sufficient reasons, still we deem it bust justice to say that Dr. Young is one of the most industrious and indefatigable votaries of the medical science in the United States.

[From Professor Jackson.]

The subscriber is personally acquainted with Dr. Young, and has seen much of his practice, and can bear testimony to his merits as a practitioner.

[From the New York Herald.]

The eminence of this distinguished gentleman in his profession, and the very extended opportunities possessed by him for the observation of venereal disease, makes his services invaluable to those afflicted with the above complaints.

MEDICAL ADVICE.
DR. J. C. Young, who has become so celebrated for the thousands of cures which he has performed on old, chronic, mercurial, syphilitic, and all private diseases, without mercury, is consulted daily at his office, corner of Montgomery and California streets, from 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. A cure guaranteed or no pay.

Dr. J. C. Young has probably had more practice in venerea diseases than any other physician in California. He cures all the most aggravated cases of this disease, and mild ones he removes in from two to five days. The doctor has for many years, been known as the most eminent and successful physician in the United States, and what is more important to the patient, he always effects a speedy and permanent cure.

Travelers, seamen, miners and others, who wish to be cured without mercury, hindrance from business, or exposure to friends, should apply to him as soon as possible and a perfect cure will be guaranteed in all curable cases. Recollect the name and number Dr. J. C. Young, corner of Montgomery and California streets.

Office open from 9 A. M. to 8 P. M.
